

In their depots. They have found after two days of the strike that in the emergency milk users will use 75 per cent. as much as when milk is brought to their dumb waiter shafts and front steps and have curtailed their orders to the up-State farmers accordingly.

NEW FORCE OF MEN IN PASTEURIZING PLANTS.

The new force of men in the pasteurizing plants was increased. Rumors spread by union agents that these men were leaving were answered by invitations of the plant managers to reporters to come and see them at work.

Thirteen district depots have been opened in Manhattan. Hours are from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. and buyers can get milk in quantity, both loose and in bottles. The Sheffield stations are announced by the company this morning are: No. 367 and No. 666 Columbus Avenue, No. 369 and No. 387 Amsterdam Avenue, No. 585 Park Avenue, No. 1264 Lexington Avenue, No. 669 Ninth Avenue, No. 18 Prince Street, No. 1161 Second Avenue, No. 614 Broadway, No. 103 East 51st Street and No. 102 West 48th Street. More stations will be opened tomorrow. All limitations placed on the quantity of milk to be allowed to each customer were abolished. A force of salesmen is being enlisted to permit the clerks and stenographers who have been helping out in the emergency to go back to their desks and sleeping accommodations have been provided at the distribution plants for the salesmen as well as for the pasteurizers and porters, so that the selling of milk may go on continuously, as long as there are applicants for it.

William Kroeg, general manager of the Keystone Dairy Company of Jersey City, asserted to-day that not only were grocers and delicatessen people afraid to accept milk from his wagon, saying they had been threatened with having their windows broken, but that coal dealers had notified him that they were doubtful about supplying him with fuel for his pasteurization plant because threats had been made of declaring a teamsters' boycott against coal yards which delivered coal to milk depots.

This statement was borne out by a threat from G. W. Briggs, leader of the strikers, that as soon as it was established that non-union pasteurizers were working in the plants in this city the engineers had promised to strike. Mr. Briggs said that thirty-six independent milk distributors had signed the scale for which the men are striking.

Loton H. Horton of the Sheffield Company said that he hoped to have a beginning made of a house-to-house delivery by open-shop drivers early in the week.

Salesmen at the milk depots cautioned purchasers to return bottles when calling for milk, as the supply was rapidly being depleted. The difficulty of furnishing containers is in part due to the destructive tactics of the marauding strikers in smashing bottles whenever interfering with a milk wagon. Often too, according to spectators, they threw empty bottles into the street and carry them away apparently for use as missiles, as in the battle at Willis Avenue and 132d Street yesterday, when a policeman had to use his revolver to stand off an attack.

Health Commissioner Copeland, in pursuance of his promise to the strikers at the mass meeting last night, invited twenty milk distributors to meet at his office as individuals at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Among them were P. D. Fox of the Borden interests and Loton H. Horton of the Sheffield Farms system.

Dr. Copeland talked at some length as to the practicability of establishing a city milk plant which would distribute milk as water is now distributed.

Mayor Hylan, in the course of a political speech to the Hungarian League at City Hall to-day, talked of making arrangements immediately through the Board of Estimate for the establishment of a city plant to "have the milk sent here by farmers pasteurized, bottled and distributed so the city will not be at the mercy of the milk barons."

Julius Lazarus, No. 7215 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, a striker formerly employed by the Borden Company as a driver, leaped upon a milk truck at Third Avenue and Baltic Street, Brooklyn, early to-day and upset a 10-gallon can of milk. Policeman LaFour of the Borden Street Station saw the act and chased Lazarus for two blocks before arresting him.

Louis Marcus of No. 544 East 11th Street, was set upon by several men at Amsterdam Avenue and Lawrence Street. Patrolman Singer caught Henry Golden of No. 84 Lawrence Street and Frank Coppinelli of Lynbrook, L. I., both strikers. They were held without bail by Magistrate Simpson.

BABIES WAITING FOR MILK THAT STRIKERS DUMPED.

Deputy Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Goodman, father of six weeks' old twins, told the court he had to get up early and wait in line for milk for them.

"Some poor babies may have been waiting for the milk they dumped," he said. "It matters not whether the owner of the milk was peddling it on a peddling basis the milk was needed for babies. The Magistrate coincided with Mr. Goodman's views."

One hundred and fifty strikers of the milkmen made an attack at 3 A. M. to-day on the leading station at 88th Street and Tenth Avenue of the Charles F. Malone Dairy Company, an "open shop" concern at No. 144 Tenth Avenue.

The three employees fought the mob who were badly beaten, but finally got inside and locked the door and

MILK TO BABIES, AIM OF WOMEN IN AUTO SERVICE

War Workers Preparing to Distribute to Families in Which There Are Children.

New York women who drove motor trucks and ambulances during the war, as well as those who volunteered their own automobiles, are preparing to-day to again render their services and cars in delivering milk to home where there are babies.

Col. Helen Bastedo, who organized the Motor Corps of America, said, "We can have a score of Motor Corps members organized for this work in a few hours. We can deliver milk anywhere, at any time and in any quantity." Realizing it is a sort of wartime emergency, many women prominent in society and club life have responded to the idea. Mrs. Albert Gallatin of No. 7, West 61th Street suggests that members of houses of charitable institutions act to supply immediate needs.

Mrs. Edward H. Fay of No. 164 Park Avenue, who had trouble getting milk for her two children, said she was ready to drive a truck or her own automobile to get milk to babies in this crisis.

"I'll gladly do all I can to help," said Mrs. Richard M. Chapman, No. 162 New York Avenue, Li-on-py, President of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. John Marshall Gallagher, No. 114 Marquand Drive, of the Federation of Women's Clubs, volunteered to drive a truck, and said women would even go to the country and get the milk.

Through Ella Russell, H. J. Rogers of the Atlantic branch of the American Red Cross, with headquarters at No. 44 West 23d Street, gave notice to-day that the ambulance and motor transport section, on application to the office, would furnish transportation to any hospital unable to get milk for itself. The war-time motor corps of the Red Cross is on the reserve basis but can be called into usefulness by telephone in whole or in part at any time. Mr. Russell said.

Major Underwood of the Salvation Army gave notice that hospitals, nurseries or other welfare agencies could get any or all the army's transportation for use in carrying milk on application to him at territorial headquarters, No. 120 West 14th Street.

The Federation of Women's Clubs is arranging a meeting to plan relief for babies in their own homes.

Continuing the movement begun by the women in Flushing yesterday, wealthy country place owners on Long Island began forming an organization by which milk from their thoroughbred herds was distributed free among their poorer neighbors.

For the most part, Long Island outside the city limits is without milk stations. They have received their deliveries from Flushing, Jamaica and one or two other towns.

The Nassau County Association at Mineola, in conjunction with the local chapter of the Red Cross, so far has been furnishing milk to fifty-four families. Col. Robert L. Bacon of Westbury has established a free milk route including thirty families.

Former service men have offered their services as guards for milk depots and milk trucks.

A big truck carrying milk for the Borden Company from Jersey City to Rockville Centre, L. I., was surrounded by men believed to be strikers. The truck was stopped at Fulton Street and Clason Avenue, Brooklyn, early to-day. The men cut the ropes at the rear of the truck and caused several hundred quart bottles to fall to the street and break. They were gone before Raymond Allen, No. 158 Hudson Street, Manhattan, could get from his seat on the truck. No arrests.

In Newark, Public Safety Commissioner Brennan refused to put policemen on milk wagons unless the milk was destined for hospitals or public institutions. There were several instances of drivers who were beaten and taken from Borden wagons and "persuaded" to abandon trucks and which they had come to New York to get milk. The independent dealers in Newark assert they have already taken over one-third of the Borden business in that city. The independent dealers have agreed to abide by the outcome of the strike as from Nov. 1.

John J. Wolf, No. 445 West 28th Street, Louis Langer, No. 211 Stanton Street, and Louis Billing, No. 382 East 10th Street, Brooklyn, strikers, and Albert Cardinali, No. 615 East 11th Street, a taxi driver, were arrested at 10th Avenue and 48th Street when they rode up beside a Sheffield Farms truck and tried to cut the ropes by which the big load of cans was lashed into the truck.

Morris Burnell, a striker, was arrested at the Sheffield Farms West 11th Street plant. Two hundred stone auto trucks and destroyed several cases of bottled milk at 10th Avenue and 60th Street. Several cans of milk were spilled in the street when a moment, a truck attacked a truck at 10th Avenue and 58th Street.

MADE $10,000 GIFT TO WIFE'S BROTHER AFTER DIVORCE

Lewis May, Held $27,665 in Arrears in Alimony, Tells Court He's Generous.

Lewis A. May, a railroad promoter of Washington, who was divorced by Mrs. Susie Walton Glover May, and who was recently adjudged to be $27,665.94 in arrears of his alimony, submitted to Supreme Court Justice Lydon to-day an affidavit setting forth that he was the most generous and forgiving ex-husband who ever appeared in the court. Mr. May said that since Mrs. May divorced him, he has given her brother-in-law, B. J. Dwyer, a present of $10,000, that he got a position for him with C. D. Hadaway & Co., bankers, of No. 27 William Street, and that he frequently sent his wife holiday season cards, which she acknowledged.

Mr. May said that soon after his marriage he turned over to Mrs. May railroad securities and Government bonds valued at $110,000. These, he claims, have never been seen since. Mr. May said that Mrs. May once phoned him she had been robbed of jewels to the value of $10,000. Upon investigation by a detective, Mr. May said, it was discovered that Mrs. May had been speculating in Wall Street.

In the affidavit Mr. May quotes the remarks of his attorney, Horace E. Parker of No. 100 Broadway, over a dinner table at the Marlborough Hotel, 104th Street and Broadway: "Mr. May, you never had a home or a real wife. Two days of cross-examination convinced me of this. She never loved you in the beginning, but simply for your financial prospects. She has no heart and her God is gold. She is too smart to be safe."

Mr. May himself expressed his sentiments thus: "In view of what has occurred, I am forced to believe that I have lived for years in a fool's paradise."

Mr. May is out on bond of $6,000, but Justice Lydon to-day increased the amount to $10,000. He was arraigned June 15, 1921, in the office of a brokerage concern at No. 67 Exchange Street in connection with his wife's alimony proceedings.

Receives Degree at St. Louis University and Reviews Hiking Regulars.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Marshal Foch was cheered when he arrived here to-day direct from Kansas City. He was driven to St. Louis University, where the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him and where, from the hands of Archbishop John J. Glennon, he was presented with a jeweled medalion, a gift of the Knights of Columbus. The drive then took him past the heroic statue of St. Louis. Pausing a moment, Marshal Foch stood and saluted.

In the business section of the city the streets were massed with people, who in unison shouted the city's welcome. With Gen. Pershing Marshal Foch then reviewed the 6th Infantry, which is completing its 880-mile hike from South Carolina to Jefferson Barracks.

and parts of Tyrone and Fermanagh. The Ulster view is that this would leave the Northern Parliament with insufficient territory.

The alternative suggestion is to give the Northern Parliament all the nine counties of Ulster originally included in the Ulster covenant. This would make simpler the problem of representation of the two Parliaments in the central federal body, as the inequality in the size of the two areas would be diminished. The Nationalist representation from the North being increased.

The Northern Ireland Cabinet, however, is unwilling to accept all of Ulster, it appears, asserting that it could count only on an uncertain minority, and fearing that one of its first acts of an All-Ireland Parliament might be to dissolve itself and join with Southern Ireland.

Eamon De Valera, who is being constantly consulted at all stages of the negotiations, is in full accord with the line of policy regarding Ulster, pursued by the Dal Eireann delegates. It is declared, this policy follows up undertakings given by Mr. De Valera to Sinn Fein deputations from Ulster.

The decision that the time had come to consult Sir James Craig on the plans was reached only yesterday, and he replied at once, saying he would be in London Saturday.

It was said at Sinn Fein headquarters that there could be no important developments in the situation before Monday, although some meetings to discuss points of detail might be held meanwhile. A similar view was expressed at the Irish Office here.

Joyce showed she had cost him $1,400,000 in one year of matrimony. Peggy has a mass of testimony showing alleged violation of marriage vows by Joyce, and it is in this feature that is bringing a settlement.

'PUT ON THE RACK IN BRUTAL MANNER,' SAYS TOM WATSON

Georgian Bitterly Attacks Senators Who Criticised His Hanging Charges.

HONOR QUESTIONED. Considers Moses Has Insulted Him—Wants Hanging Picture in Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—When the Senate convened to-day Senator Tom Watson launched into a bitter attack upon Senators who criticized him for his charges that American soldiers were hanged without trial in France. He reiterated his charges and declared he could substantiate every word that he uttered.

The Georgia Senator again attacked Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, who first called the Senate's attention to Senator Watson's charges.

"It is only a few hours," said Mr. Watson, "since I was put on the rack in a most brutal, supercilious manner by the ex-associate of William Barnes, a crook."

Senator Wadsworth did not reply. He presented a newspaper which he said contained a picture of the hanging of an American soldier and asked that it be printed in the Congressional Record.

"The object," said Senator Moses, Chairman of the Committee on Printing, "is a cowardly objection," shouted Watson.

"It is against the rules to print pictures," replied Moses. "I do not wish you to say anything," shot back Watson. "You insulted the Senator from Alabama (Senator Hoffman) the other day and I consider that an insult to myself, and until you apologize for that I do not care to hear from you."

"I can show and I will show that officers had men shot with no trial whatever. I can show and will show that officers told court-martials what to do in order that the court-martials might keep from being shot themselves."

Facing the Republicans and shouting out his chin, Watson said: "You make a fight on me if you can, if you dare! You said you'd put my head against a wall. Come on—do it!"

"Hereafter the man who impugns my honor will answer to me not only here but somewhere else."

Watson then sent to the desk a letter from an ex-serviceman in Philadelphia who stated that he had a photograph of a scaffold upon which two negro soldiers were hanged in France. The writer stated that the soldiers encamped nearby had been invited to attend the hanging.

Watson hastily withdrew one letter sent to be read by the clerk, from a "Major Turner, formerly of the 13th United States Infantry," said to now reside in New York, when the clerk read the words, "I hope you will regard this as confidential."

DAN R. HANNA DIES OF HEART TROUBLE AT CROTON ESTATE

Hanna the properties grew, and he died many times a millionaire. Among his holdings were two of the largest office buildings in Cleveland. He was also heavily interested in New York real estate, and had spent much of his time in this city in the last five years. He had a large breeding farm at Stockbridge, Mass., as well as his estate at Croton in the East, a home in Cleveland, and two or three country places in Ohio.

Mr. Hanna was married four times. His first wife was Carrie May Harrington of Cleveland. They were divorced in 1888, and he married Daisy Gordon Maud, the divorced wife of Capt. Walter Maud of the British Army.

Mr. Hanna's second wife divorced him, the reputed reason being that he wanted her to live in Cleveland and she preferred to live in New York. His third wife was Maud Stuart Skelly, the divorced wife of Edward Skelly, a Waldorf-Astoria clerk. In 1915 he married Mrs. Molly Covington Worden, a divorcee, and presented to her his $250,000 stock farm at Lenox.

Mr. Hanna is survived by his mother, who lives in Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. Modell McCormick of Chicago, and Mrs. Harry A. Parsons of Cleveland; and by eight children, Mark A. Hanna and Earl H. Hanna of Watertown, N. Y.; Dan R. Hanna, Jr. of Cleveland, and the Misses Elizabeth, Natalie, Ruth, Charlotte and Mary Hanna.

Although interested in politics Dan Hanna never aspired to political office. He was an ardent admirer and great friend of Col. Roosevelt and was one of the financial backers of the attempt of Gen. Leonard Wood to obtain the Republican nomination for President last year.

NOT ONE SOLDIER WAS EXECUTED FOR MILITARY OFFENCE

16 Died for Murder and Assaults on Women; 19 for Houston Murder and Mutiny.

In view of the charges of Senator Watson of Georgia that indiscriminate hangings took place in the American Army in France, the following official figures, issued shortly after the close of the war by Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder, are presented:

From April 6, 1917 (when President Wilson called for a declaration of war) to June 30, 1919 (when demobilization was practically completed), death sentences were pronounced in 145 trials by courts-martial.

Of these there were actually 35 executions, of which 25 were in the United States and 10 in the A. E. F. in France. Of the 35, 2 were for murder, 19 for murder and mutiny (the Houston, Tex., mutiny of the negro troops), 11 for assault on women and 3 for assault and murder of women.

In no official case was a sentence of death for a military offense carried into execution, though there were a number of sentences so pronounced, all being commuted to imprisonment.

Three young soldiers sentenced to death for sleeping on post in France were pardoned by President Wilson. One was later decorated for bravery and killed in action in France.

There were 154 cases of murder in the army during the war period.

Tie Jewellers to a Tree and Escape in Auto With Rich Plunder.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Diamonds valued at $150,000 were taken yesterday by armed thieves in a hold-up at Highland Park. M. Schwartz and A. S. Nathan, son-in-law of H. Schwartz, a jewel broker, were the victims. They were returning to Chicago in an automobile when another car drove alongside and two armed men leaped out.

The jewellers made a brief attempt at resistance, but were overpowered and tied to a tree. The men then seized the abandoned sample cases and, throwing them into the automobile, escaped.

At the office of the Schwartz Company it was stated that the stolen diamonds were insured.

WEATHER IS RIGHT FOR PULITZER AIR RACE FROM OMAHA

Speedy Planes Ready to Start on 150-Mile Dash at One o'Clock To-Day.

OMAHA, Nov. 3.—Favorable weather conditions are assured for to-day's second annual Pulitzer Trophy aerial race for the heavier-than-air craft with a speed of more than 140 miles an hour, scheduled to start at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The course is approximately 150 miles from the Omaha field to Calhoun, Neb., to Loveland, Ia., and return. The shortest elapsed time will determine the winner, who in addition to the Pulitzer Speed Trophy, will receive $3,000 in cash. Second and third places will win $2,000 and $1,000 respectively.

Participants will have to do better than 178 miles an hour to excel the record in the first race, made at Mitchell Field, Long Island, by Capt. C. C. Mosley, who represented the Aero Club of Southern California. He is not entered in to-day's events, but the runner-up in the 1920 event, Col. H. E. Hartney, Executive Secretary of the Aero Club of America, will take part. Lieut. John A. Macready from McCook Field, Dayton, O., who established a world's altitude record last Sept. 28 of 40,800 feet, will also fly.

Other entries are C. B. Coombs, New York, entered for S. E. J. Cox of Houston, Tex., and Bert Acosta of California.
